Rashtrasant Tukadoji Maharaj Nagpur University
An Overview

Rashtrasant Tukadoji Maharaj Nagpur University was established on 4th August 1923. Our University is one of the oldest universities in India. It began with four faculties: Arts, Science, Law, and Education and six colleges located in Nagpur, Jabalpur, and Amravati, with 917 students. Since then, the University has continuously worked towards the expansion of higher education with great determination. Its present vast expansion is remarkable for all.

After the formation of separate universities such as Sagar, Jabalpur, Amravati, and Gadchiroli, the geographical jurisdiction of this University may have reduced; however, at present, the University has 515 affiliated colleges, 40 postgraduate teaching departments, and 3 conducted colleges, through which approximately 4 lakh students are receiving education every year. The University provides almost all types of professional and traditional education at affordable academic fees.

The University has developed a high-quality academic tradition. Along with this, a strong tradition of national and social commitment has also been established. The University has continuously contributed to the mainstream of national movements. During the period 1930–32, when the Civil Disobedience Movement was underway, the University's Law College remained closed for nearly two months. About 150 students who were expelled from Osmania University for participating in the "Vande Mataram" movement were admitted into special classes here, thereby preventing their academic loss. In the pre-independence period, distinguished national leaders were respectfully invited by the University to deliver Convocation addresses.

The main library of the University and the libraries within the campus have been fully computerized, and a well-equipped Internet laboratory has been established in the University Library. It has 100 computers, through which students can avail themselves of necessary library services. The University Library has a collection of 4,29,021 books, 14,313 manuscripts, 18,817 Ph.D. theses, 1,344 e-books, and 36,935 bound volumes of journals.

The University has designed ideal curricula that define the objectives and outcomes of teaching in each discipline and provide a comprehensive learning experience. For the overall development of the University, new departments, centers and programmes have also been established.

From the academic session 2011–12, departments such as Molecular Biology and Genetic Engineering, Commerce, Postgraduate Buddhist Studies, and Mass Communication have been introduced. From 2012–13, the Department of Rashtrasant Tukadoji Maharaj Thought and the Department of Urdu have been started. Recently, postgraduate programmes in Social Work and Geography have also been introduced in the University. Additionally, with financial assistance from the Government of Maharashtra, the Bhagwan Chakradhar Swami Adhyasan has been started in the University from December 2019.

In the year 2005, the University was bestowed with the title 'Rashtrasant', a significant milestone that marked its continued commitment to academic excellence and social responsibility. From its inception, the University has upheld national and social commitment. Since the University was named after the revered Rashtrasant Tukadoji Maharaj, it has remained dedicated to fulfilling national and social objectives. The University is committed to realizing Maharaj's vision of a socially oriented new India. To ensure that students continuously draw inspiration from Maharaj's work, a statue of Maharaj has been installed in the University campus. The propagation and dissemination of Maharaj's ideas are being effectively carried out through the Rashtrasant Tukadoji Maharaj Studies Centre. The postgraduate programme on "Rashtrasant Tukadoji Maharaj Thought" will certainly gain prominence in the coming years. The Bhagwan Chakradhar Swami Studies Centre, which has recently been started, will also expand further in the future.

Within the premises of Dr. V. B. Kolte Library, a grand and spacious building of the "International Buddhist Studies Centre" has been developed, and this Centre is expected to become a prominent and renowned Centre for Buddhist studies in the region in the future.

In recent years, the innovative programme of "Robotic Technology" has been introduced. Similarly, in affiliated colleges, the undergraduate programme in "Forensic Science" has been started. In view of the upcoming metro project near Nagpur, a new academic programme is being planned.

The University is striving, with the cooperation of foreign universities, industrial institutions, and experts, to introduce courses in specialized subjects, advanced-level training, and research. Through projects such as Technology Park for Technology Development and Transfer, Incubation and Innovation Centre, and Human Resource Training, and by launching innovative M. Tech. and Ph.D. programmes in collaboration with industries, the University intends to provide students with opportunities to undertake advanced research in specific fields and build excellent careers. Recently, the University has established the innovative Centre titled "Centre for Defense Studies" within the campus. Through the establishment of this Centre, a new avenue of study relating to national security has been opened for students.

In recent times, many new initiatives have been completed at Rashtrasant Tukadoji Maharaj Nagpur University, and because of these initiatives, the University has become especially dynamic. Since the University has received an "A" grade accreditation by NAAC, various activities in the University have begun to take concrete shape. By starting the "Innovation and Incubation Centre," the University has attained a high growth rate in a short period. A "Central Training and Placement Cell" has been started, and through it, students studying in the University as well as in colleges affiliated to the University are being provided with opportunities for advanced-level training and employment. Through this "Central Training and Placement Cell," students of all courses have been given the facility of internship, training, and placement assistance. Through this, many students have received jobs, training, and internships on a large scale.

With the objective of starting skill-oriented courses, the "Department of Lifelong Learning and Extension" has been strengthened. Through this department, various courses are being efficiently conducted under the Life Education Campaign, Continuing Education Campaign, and Skill-based Campaign. The academic departments in the University have become autonomous. Since the departments have been granted academic autonomy, they have received the opportunity to make the courses more qualitative. With a view to implementing the "National Education Policy–2020," the University has taken very prompt steps and has implemented this new education policy accordingly. The Government of Maharashtra has enhanced the status of this L.I.T. as an Autonomous University, and on that basis, L.I.T. has become an autonomous university. To create opportunities for knowledge and development in research, it is necessary to establish a linkage between research and industry; for that purpose, under Technology Park in the University various projects are being implemented. The educational technology and research facilities available in the University are being made accessible to industries as per their requirements.

Three years ago, the University Grants Commission, through the National Assessment and Accreditation Council, sent an expert committee for evaluation and accreditation. This committee visited the University. After reassessment, the committee awarded the University an "A" grade. Accordingly, the University has adopted a policy of utilizing advanced information technology.

112th Convocation of
Rashtrasant Tukadoji Maharaj Nagpur University, Nagpur
Convocation Address By
Governer of Maharashtra Hon'ble Shri. C. P. Radhakrishanan

I bow in reverence and salute the holy feet of Bharat Mata, the most powerful and most merciful.

Today, on the 112th Convocation Ceremony of Rashtrasant Tukadoji Maharaj Nagpur University, we celebrate more than a century of its glorious existence. When this University was established, many people in our country were unaware of the true value of education. My father was the first person from my village to complete his school final examination. Before that, most people had not even reached that level of schooling. This reminds us of how far we have progressed over the years and underscores the transformative power of education.

Recently, I read about an 80-year-old man pursuing an M.A. in History through a correspondence course. One may wonder about the purpose of studying at such an advanced age. However, this reflects personal aspiration, determination, and lifelong motivation. Continuing to learn even at the age of 80 demonstrates remarkable mental strength and sustained intellectual curiosity. The capacity to observe, understand, and grow does not diminish with age. Everything is achieved through consistent practice and perseverance. If we give in to fatigue and say, "I am tired," we may never rise again. We must always keep enthusiasm alive in our minds; it is this spirit that keeps us forever young.

I feel deeply delighted and privileged to participate in this 112th Convocation of Rashtrasant Tukadoji Maharaj Nagpur University. The history of this University is itself a source of pride. As graduates of this esteemed institution, you must take immense pride in being part of its legacy.

At the outset, I extend my heartfelt congratulations to all the graduates and medal winners, along with their proud parents and family members, on this momentous occasion. Dear students, this University has recently celebrated its centenary, which signifies that it has nurtured more than a hundred batches of students, imparting quality education rooted in integrity, patriotism, and knowledge.

If you wish to achieve success in life, there is one essential principle: self-discipline. Discipline cannot be imposed by others. They may inspire or guide you, but true discipline must arise from within. It is this inner discipline that forms the foundation of real and lasting success.

I am impressed to know, this University, over last century, has branched out four leading universities in central part of our country, mother Bharat, and played a significant role in nation building, while producing any hilarious alumni over a century, like former Vice President of India Justice M. Hidayatullah, former Prime Minister of India Shri. Narasimha Rao, former Chief Justice of India Shri. Arvind Bobade, renowned scientist Dr. Vijay Bhatkar, late Dr. Srikanth Jichkar, Union Minister of India Shri. Nitinji Gadkari, who is the instrumental for even Bajpayiji to have four-way lane all over the country. The first four-way lane in this country is between Mumbai and Pune, by the old student of our University, Shri. Nitin Gadkariji. And today, Chief Minister of Maharashtra Shri. Devendra Fadnavisji, to name a few. That means it is a University that is creating the leadership for the nation. I am sure some of you will be leading the nation in the future. The list of illustrious alumni of the University impressively showcases that the University has been providing the holistic education to the students of central part of India, not only central part of India. Narsimha Raoji has not born in Maharashtra; he is from Andhra Pradesh, but got educated here and he is one of the finest talented Prime Ministers of this country by knowledge.

Dear graduates, I am impressed to know and pleased to share with you all about various ambitious projects and events, such as Indian Science Congress, Indian Pharmaceutical Science

Congress, State Level Leadership Quality Programs, etc., that were successfully executed by our University during its centenary celebrations. These are the real motivating factors; everybody has to be motivated. Everybody's good positive thinking has to be stimulated in that direction; the performance of our University is immense. The focus on research exhibited by the University is also commendable, and I wish all the very best to young researchers of our University for their future endeavors to solve problems of the local community while becoming global leaders.

My dear friends, as we all know, that National Education Policy 2020 is in place, and I feel proud and privileged to mention that the state of Maharashtra is leading in its implementation by example. The policy is, in my view, is an important instrument to accomplish the goals set by the honorable Prime Minister, Sriman Narendra Modi ji, through his ambitious mission of Vikasit Bharat 2047. Today, I am happy that so many Muslim girls are completing their graduation, and their parents are sitting.

The education is a must, and education must reach every woman. That's why Mahatma Gandhiji has said, if a male gets educated, that means a single individual is getting educated; if a woman gets educated, entire family is getting educated. Education is a must for everyone, but a woman in particular. This is a great tool, this is a great key to open the door for development. The personal ambitions, the personal targets, the personal goals, and the goals of the society as a whole, all can be achieved through only one single tool, that is education. Without education, there is no very good society with great knowledge.

The policy proposes much needed reforms in education, which primarily aim at creating a sustainable learner centric learning ecosystem for holistic development of learner and multi- disciplinary approach. Previously, this new policy makes you to study as much as you can. If you want to discontinue also, this is allowing you to get discontinued again, again rejoining it. Why this dynamism being added? We all know one thing, that change is the only constant factor. Everything has to change according to the need of the society of that time. That's what our Vice-Chancellor has mentioned in his speech; they are dynamic enough. What is the requirement of the market, that has to be produced. Like that, what is the requirement of a particular subject at that time, we should produce more students to learn it and serve it society. See, the science is developing in such a way that in the whole world is becoming a global village. When we were young, we have never seen a TV; today, everything is available to you in your cell phone. So, it is your self-discipline that will teach you what you see and what not to see. Nobody can control, except you. Whether your parents can control you? No. I don't think so. But you can control yourself. So, we must know what to take and what not to take. We must know what to follow and what not to follow. We must know what to adopt and what not to adopt. That is what I said, self-discipline. Self-discipline will make you a stronger leader, a stronger achiever, very successful career. All these things will be based on how you are allocating your time fruitfully.

The transition of approach towards education from result oriented to outcome oriented, from career driven to character driven, and from teacher centric to learner centric, is going to see a lot of radical shifts in the entire education system of our country. So, I am always sure, if you miss one opportunity, you should never get dejected by that. Everybody miss for various reasons, may be the lethargy of ours also, that is also included. But we must come across first our lethargic attitude. By missing one, we understand we missed because of our lethargy. There are so many external factors which deny you an opportunity, but that doesn't mean that the whole world is ending there. Every end has its own new beginning. We should never give up. We should never get dejected. There is nothing wrong if you want to take a break, that doesn't mean that you are going to give it up. You take a break to energize yourself, so you march forward in a better way than before. The administration is all geared up for the implementation of these revolutionary changes, and many seminars, conferences, debates are taking place to discuss, to get the new ideas. Without a discussion, your knowledge never improves. I may be thinking the right, then it is getting groomed. I may be thinking wrong, then I understand it is wrong. Then I eradicate it from my mind. So, the discussion is the right way to learn what is right and what is wrong. That will help us to make our life more positive, and it is easy to march forward in the right direction. This is probably the right time to examine the deliverables of offered by this policy, and expectations of the policy from its stakeholders. Every child has a different learning need, style, and aptitude, and one size fits all cannot serve the purpose. It is not important what we want to teach, but it matters what a learner wants to learn. Standardization of education has been prominently responsible for deterioration of quality of education. The NEP 2020 has a basic focus on creative learners with character, courage, and competence. To achieve this, courses on value education, universal human values, Indian knowledge System, sports, health, wellness, yoga, will be offered through various programs along with the discipline related subjects. What is the use of yoga? I will tell you, the best use of yoga is, we all are worried about our body fitness. Mostly, body fitness is determined by the mental fitness. The yoga's great advantage is that you are getting your mental health strengthened by yoga. When you are young, you start doing yoga for 30-40 minutes every day. That will give you enormous energy to work. That will give you enormous enthusiasm to achieve driving force behind your hard work and dedication.

One of the important aspects of this policy is to provide opportunities for multi-disciplinary education. It means, while persuading a degree course in particular stream such as Science, Commerce, or Humanities, a student will get an opportunity to study subjects of other disciplines. What is wrong, I should study only this subject, not that subject. If my enthusiasm, my urge to learn so many things, I can devote my time, and I can do hard work. Why that student get stopped?

How much he can work, that will be decided by him. How many subjects he wants to specialize, that will be decided by that particular person. That is the dynamism being added by this 2020 New Education Policy.

From this august platform of the 112th Convocation Ceremony of the centenary old graceful University, I once again congratulate all of you, and all the graduates and medal winners, and wish you all good luck for your future journey. To build your careers, ensure wellbeing of your families. My humble request is, never forget your parents. It is not that easy for anyone to mobilize the resources for someone. They have dedicated their life on you, for you, that you should come up. That is the goal of them. That is the target of them. For that only, they suffered a lot. They may be rich, but even then, me. It's not that only you are sending the money, then everything is ok for them. That is not. Very few kinds were every day. That will make their life more happy. They will feel, yes, I have achieved my goal, I have created my son, I have created my daughter, the one most successful in the world. So, small things that makes the life more happy and I pray to God that God should bless all the young graduates and the research scholars today with every help, every wealth, and above all that, every happiness in the life. See, the happiness is the one, it cannot be bought in any multiplex complex. It cannot be bought anywhere. You have to satisfy yourself. Yes, I have done this today, I am happy. So, the happiness is one that has to generat from the bottom of your heart. And whatever we have achieved, first we have to be happy with it. Then the next achievement is waiting for you. Yes, your mental health and physical health will motivate you to move towards the next target.

With these words, I wish you once again every success in your future endeavor's. All the best. God bless you.

Bahot bhot dhynyawad. Jay Hind, Jay Bharat, Jay Maharashtra.
